Not Sisters

You are astunished to learn that they are mother and daughter, and you realize that a woman at forty or forty-five ought to be at her finest and fairest. Why isn't it so? The general health of woman is so intimately associated with the local health of the essentially feminine organs that there can be no red checks and round form where there is female weakness.

Women who have suffered from this trouble have found prompt relief and cure in the use of Dr.

Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It gives vigor and vitality to the organs of womanhood. It clears the complexion, brightens the eyes and reddens the cheeks.

No alcohol, or habit-forming drugs is contained in "Favorite Prescription."

Any sick woman may consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. Every letter is held as sacredly confidential, and answered in a plain envelope. Address: World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R.V. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N.Y.

Death of Mrs. Anna T. Hicklin.

The community was inexpressably shocked Saturday evening by the death of Mrs. Anna T. Hicklin, widow of the late Robert Hicklin, at her residence, 760 Highland avenue. Her death was due to an overdose of laudanum, which she had been taking for several weeks on account of in-

Mrs. Hicklin was formally Miss Anna T. Moreland and was the fourth of the six children of the late Major Joseph and Bettie Miss Nickell proved a most Moreland of near Lexington. She was born January 12, 1860. She spent her girlhood at the family home and in January of 1878 was married to Robert A. Hicklin, who was then a student at the state university. With him she went to Columbia and remained there until his graduation. Then with Mr. Hieklin she went housekeeping in Lexington, where she lived till her death.

In early life she united with the Episcopal church and was ever a devout member and worker in this organization. In fact her church was the only institution outside of her family circle in which she actively interested

The life of Mrs. Hicklin was one of simple and unselfish devotion. It was spent almost entirely in providing happiness an comforts for those dear to her, Her death was largely due to her long consecration to the service of her small family. Her husband, after a month's illness, passed away last Christmas morning. The shock to Mrs. Hicklin was great and she never recovered from it. She was unable to adjust herself to new conditions and she became subject to constant her health. Frequently she had were served. to take drugs in order to sleep.
